CHALLENGES INTERIOR DESIGNERS MAY FACE TODAY:

SAVING WITHOUT LOSING QUALITY

Repair is always compared to natural disaster, which negatively affects our financial situation, daily schedule and kills many nerve cells. But repairs in the house can be turned into a pleasant experience. Especially if you know what can be saved without loss of quality of repair.

Repair can and should save. But if you cut the wrong budget items, living in an apartment will be unpleasant, and the finish will have to be replaced in a year or two.

Create a design project

If you want to save money, pay the designer. We understand, it sounds strange, but it is: it will help you plan the finish and tell you what to save on.

You can save on a design project. Ask the designer to develop a furniture layout plan, layout and drawings for builders, while abandoning visualizations and architectural supervision - the project budget will be halved. Assistance in the selection of furniture and decoration materials also save time and money.

Do it all at once

It seems that renovation without resettlement saves money because you don't have to rent other housing. In fact, this is not so.

When the craftsmen repair the entire apartment at once, they work in all rooms in parallel. So faster than finishing each room separately. Repair is not delayed.

Repair companies raise prices at least once a season. If you order the decoration of the entire apartment, prices will be fixed at the level that was originally.

Schedule repairs for the winter

Winter is not a season for repairmen. Therefore, you can buy cheaper materials and choose a better team.

In winter, prices are reduced in construction stores and sales are held. Since there is no such excitement as in the summer, it is easier to buy exactly those materials that you like.

Use unpretentious materials

Choosing the right materials is an important part of any repair.

Repair is more expensive if you have to redo it. Therefore, it is important to choose materials that do not change appearance for a long time.

Consider the features of the room in which the repair is in progress. For example, paper wallpapers in the bedroom will last for several years, and in the hallway or kitchen they will lose their appearance in a few months.

Track discounts

Due to various discounts on materials, you can significantly reduce the budget for repairs.

Construction hypermarkets often give discounts on certain products or entire sections. Sign up for newsletters and notifications in order not to miss the best offers.

What must never be cost savings at:

During the repair process you can not save: wiring, sockets, switches; pipes; draft materials; window; entrance door; masters.

Therefore, competent planning and a serious approach to the selection of performers — designers, foreman, and craftsmen — help to save on repairs. If everything is done correctly, keep within the budget and not lose in quality.
